

One Lantern, Many Screens

The year 2026 marks a historic milestone: the 250th Jubilee of the Congregation founded by Venerable Nano Nagle. From one lantern in Cork, Ireland, her humble light has grown into a global movement of grace. To celebrate this journey, Friends of Nano Nagle gathered online, showing how her flame continues to shine in the digital age.

Held on 22 and 29 August, the event brought together ten Friends of Nano units from the North India Province. Rather than following one central programme, each unit shared its culture through prayers, hymns, and videos of local charitable work. Together, their contributions showed how a seed planted in Ireland 250 years ago has flourished across cultures, united by radical love.

The programme's smooth execution reflected the teams' dedication, many rehearsals, and generous effort. Though physically apart, participants shared a strong sense of community.

The jubilee was a time for both reflection and renewal, inspiring participants to serve the marginalized, educate the vulnerable, and care for the Earth. Sincere thanks to all the organizers and units for keeping Nano's light aglow. May her flame continue to guide future generations, and may God and Venerable Nano Nagle bless us all.
